6. COOKIE MANAGEMENT

What is a cookie?

When a visitor visits the website covered by this Policy, a small data file, called a cookie, is placed on their computer, serving multiple purposes.

We use only essential cookies necessary for the operation of the site and session-supporting cookies for identifying individual user sessions, as well as cookies that facilitate the more convenient use of our website.

Some of the cookies we use are temporary and disappear when the browser is closed, while some convenience cookies are stored on your computer for 1 month. If you regularly visit our website, your browser will remember your previously used settings, so you do not have to accept our cookie notice or set your filtering preferences according to your needs every time.

Purpose of cookies

The cookies used on our website include those that ensure the operation of the site (essential for the proper functioning of the site), while others are for facilitating the more convenient use of the website. Essential cookies help make the website usable by enabling basic functions such as navigation and access to secure areas of the website. The website cannot function properly without these cookies.

7. USER RIGHTS

Access to personal data

Upon the User's request, the Data Controller provides information on whether personal data concerning the User is being processed, and if so, grants access to the personal data and informs the User of the following:

- The purpose(s) of data processing;
- The categories of personal data concerned;
- In case of transfer of the User's personal data, the legal basis and recipient(s) of the data transfer;
- The planned duration of data processing;
- The User's rights regarding the correction, deletion, and restriction of personal data processing, as well as their right to object to personal data processing;
- The possibility of lodging a complaint with the Authority;
- The source of the data;
- The names, addresses, and activities related to data processing of the Data Processors.

The Data Controller provides a copy of the personal data being processed free of charge. For additional copies requested by the User, the Data Controller may charge a reasonable fee based on administrative costs. If the User submitted the request electronically, the information must be provided in a widely used electronic format unless otherwise requested by the User.

The Data Controller is obliged to provide the information in an intelligible form without undue delay, but no later than within one month of receiving the request.

Users can submit their access requests through the contact details provided in point 1.

Correction of processed data

Users may request the correction of inaccurate personal data and the completion of incomplete data held by the Data Controller, considering the purpose of the data processing. The Data Controller will carry out the correction without undue delay.

Deletion of processed data (right to be forgotten)

Users may request the immediate deletion of their personal data, and the Data Controller is obliged to delete the personal data concerning the User without undue delay if one of the following reasons applies:

- The personal data is no longer needed for the purposes for which it was collected or otherwise processed;
- The User withdraws consent and there is no other legal basis for processing;
- The User objects to the processing and there are no overriding legitimate grounds for processing;
- The personal data was unlawfully processed;
- The personal data must be erased to comply with a legal obligation in Union or Member State law;
- The personal data has been collected in relation to the offer of information society services to children.

If the Data Controller has made the personal data public and is obliged to delete it, considering available technology and the cost of implementation, the Data Controller must take reasonable steps to inform other data controllers processing the personal data that the User has requested the deletion of any links to, or copies or replications of, that personal data.

Personal data does not have to be deleted if the processing is necessary:

- For exercising the right of freedom of expression and information;
- For compliance with a legal obligation that requires processing by Union or Member State law, or for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the Data Controller;
- For reasons of public interest in the area of public health;
- For archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes, or statistical purposes, where the right to erasure is likely to render impossible or seriously impair the achievement of the objectives of that processing; or
- For the establishment, exercise, or defense of legal claims.

Restriction of data processing

Users have the right to request that the Data Controller restrict processing instead of deletion if one of the following conditions applies:

- The User contests the accuracy of the personal data, for a period enabling the Data Controller to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- The processing is unlawful and the User opposes the erasure of the personal data and requests the restriction of their use instead;
- The Data Controller no longer needs the personal data for processing, but the User requires them for the establishment, exercise, or defense of legal claims;

- The User has objected to processing, pending the verification of whether the Data Controller's legitimate grounds override those of the User.

If the processing is restricted, such personal data, with the exception of storage, may only be processed with the User's consent or for the establishment, exercise, or defense of legal claims or for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person.
